Creative Minds

Our service is our product. PamTen assists our customers by consulting, developing, and delivering unique systems with exceptional quality at affordable costs.

IT Consulting

Our web consulting services help companies increase their revenues through innovative business solutions. Our extensive diverse business experience, coupled with a fully integrated team of developers and online marketers, allows us to apply proven business and marketing practices to the web.

Our team is made up of highly skilled professionals ready to assist you in the development and implementation of your e-business strategies. We examine the purpose of your website to determine any adjustments that should be made. In this vital step of the planning process, we make recommendations and advise you of opportunities you may not be aware of, as well as help you select the most suitable solutions that match your objectives. All our consulting services begin with a review and analysis of your overall business strategies. Only then do we proceed to evaluate your existing or proposed online business activities and generate recommendations that rest on a solid business foundation.

Project Management

Our team lead by certified project management professionals (PMPs) offers you the best practice in program and project management to ensure complex, large-scale, high-quality solutions are implemented on time and within budget. We adopt state-of-the-art project management methodologies to ensure that all the phases of the project are managed well to balance stakeholder expectations and without compromising the iron triangle (time, cost, and scope). We also offer preparation of all software development life-cycle artifacts, including requirements document, design documents, development plan, and metrics.

Business Process Management

A company's profitability and ability to compete in the market are determined by its processes. Processes are the source of improved transparency, business efficiency, and innovation, which are, in turn, the basis for your success! PamTen's Business Process Management (BPM) consultants, who have extensive knowledge in diverse subject areas offer value proposition by determining the contribution from people, process, and technology and identify opportunities to streamline your current business processes. Our BPM implementation experience covers a variety of tools and techniques from major corporations.

Services

Data Architecture / Data Modeling

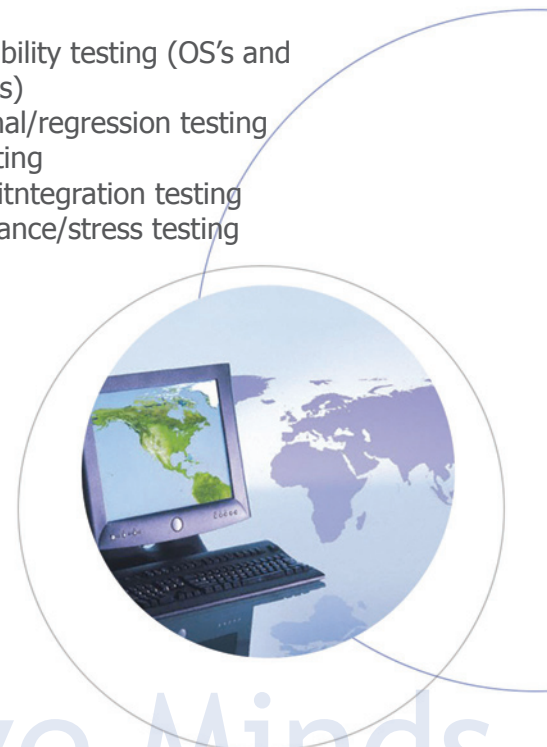

Data is the foundation of an organization's performance and a valuable enterprise asset. It provides the platform for making critical and everyday business decisions. It is, therefore, essential that decision makers can access and depend on quality data to operate confidently in a high-performance environment.

PamTen's Data Management and Architecture Team helps define the key data objects and offer guidance an organization can manage its data across its entire lifecycle. We will help define policies and operating procedures to ensure data accuracy, accessibility and security, availability, and reusability. Effective data management enables better management decisions, reduces risks, and enhances productivity and operational efficiency.

Application Qualification / Testing

We offer manual and automated website testing, including

- Compatibility testing (OS's and browsers)
- Functional/regression testing
- Unit testing
- System integration testing
- Performance/stress testing

The Stages of Solution Development

Creative

Web Designing

- Looking to design your website but not sure where to start, what to present, and who to turn to?
- Is your website getting the kind of traffic you want from search engines? Are you concerned about keeping your web content up to date?

PamTen has the answers to all your questions and concerns. Regardless of the type of business you are startup or multinational corporation - PamTen offers services to create and deliver high-quality content that conveys a consistent and distinctive presence on the Web. With our focus on simplicity and professionalism, we develop a web presence to help deliver on your goals and objectives and ensure the best possible experience for your customers.

Graphic Designing

PamTen graphic team is lead by experienced and creative art designers who can translate your ideas into creative designs with their vast experience in advertising and the film industry. Our designers use traditional tools, such as the mind, eye, and hand. A creative concept is not usually considered a design unless it is given a tangible or visual form. However, since we at PamTen design graphics consisting of ideas, the most important and only tool that is required in the design process is the mind. Critical, observational, quantitative, and analytical thinking, and the ability to translate your message into simple graphical representation are the core strengths of PamTen. The eye and the hand are often augmented with the use of traditional or digital image editing tools.

Staff Supplementation

PamTen will achieve and maintain the skilled staffing levels your organization requires. Our consultants can be integrated into an already developed project plan or work with your organization from implementation of a project or initiative. Either way the result is that you can focus on your business.

PamTen's service offerings are developed around a model that supports the client's IT environment in every phase: consulting and design, development, acquisition and deployment, operation and support, and enhancement and migration. Our IT services are available for both full-service projects and contract service requests.

PamTen's services and solutions are focused on maximizing end-user productivity, reducing risks associated with migrating to new technologies, and minimizing total cost of ownership. PamTen's goal is to provide the most consistent, flexible, timely, and highest-quality services possible at the most efficient cost.
